

A ROCCO FORTE HOTEL

A GUEST OF THE FAMILY

In much more than name, Rocco Forte Hotels is the Forte family. At its head are Sir Rocco, his sister Olga and his three children. Behind it are four generations of Forte hoteliers.

It is in every way a family business; a shared love evident in every Rocco Forte hotel – each exuding the Forte’s innate Anglo-Italian style, sophistication and warmth.

Hotel Amigo – their iconic Brussels base – has all the hallmarks of a Rocco Forte hotel. Its team exhibit their signature tailor-made service, whether entertaining a family in the Tintin Suite or catering to royalty on the Grand-Place Suite’s rooftop terrace. Its design, by Olga Polizzi, blends a modern sensibility with an homage to the hotel’s home. An important art collection reflects the city’s creative scene; Flemish furnishings and chocolates honour its address.

Part of the city’s fabric for 500 years, the Amigo presides over Brussels’s charming cultural centre by the Grand-Place. Windows look up to the Hôtel de Ville’s spire, medieval cobbled streets below wind their way to the Mont des Arts or Le Sablon’s antiques, and locals wind their way here to take a seat at the Amigo’s much-loved restaurant – testament to its place as a pillar of its town.

The top-floor Grand-Place Suite with a 60m² terrace (overleaf)

A rooftop terrace in Brussels at dusk. The terrace features modern outdoor furniture, including a white sofa, two armchairs, and several lounge chairs. A small table with candles is in the center. The terrace is enclosed by a glass railing. In the background, the Atomium tower is visible against a blue sky. The terrace is adjacent to a building with large glass doors and windows.

*“Brussels always gives me inspiration:
wonderful antique shops and the Grand-Place, as stunning and perfect
a square as any I have seen”*

Olga Polizzi

"Ristorante Bocconi is a slice of Italy right in the heart of Brussels"
